"Autumn Morning" Sold at Auction
of Tyner Collection.

Blakelock's "Autumn Morning" brought $2,500 last night in the American Art Association Galleries at a sale of paintings collected by George N. Tyner of Holyoke, Mass. It is a picture of early morning. The sun is screened by haze in the lower sky and the diffusion of light over the landscape is soft everywhere except for strata of feathering pink at the horizon. Percy Bullard was the buyer.

W. W. Seaman, agent, paid $1,000 for one of Jean Jacques Henner's ideal heads. Mr. Bullard bought a Belgian marine view by Paul Jean Clays for $600. William Michel got Fritz Thaulow's picture of the Bois de Boulogne in winter for $320 and M. Knoedler & Co. paid $300 for Edward Gay's picture of willows along the Bronx River at Mount Vernon. Sixty-two paintings in the collection brought $11,465.
